

KIRA:

Kira is our first ever Scottish Terrier Mix rescue. Kira was found in the Barrio Olaya Herrera in Cartagena. She was found trembling in fear protecting her two babies. We discovered that she originally was being used to litters and finally was able to sneak away. The volunteers Olga and Ana María took her in and helped her with her two puppies until they were able to be adopted out. Kira stayed with Olga for a few months at her house before we discovered that she had developed large masses in her nipples and cysts from being used by humans to produce "breded" small dogs to sell.

We had a Canadian Vet volunteering with us and she helped do surgery and tests on the areas and she was spayed. She took a long month to recover from the surgery and the change of living in a garbage pit, but now she is a trained, well behaved, and super smart girl who is dying to get home to her forever home. A woman and her children knew that Kira was the one for them when they saw her post! They have been waiting for her ever since February! She has missed over 7 flights that she could have flown on to be united with her new family, but due to COVID every one of those flights were cancelled. Kira has spent over a year in recovery and is ready for her forever home! Lets help get her home asap!
